

FEARS OF COMPASSION SCALE

Different people have different views of compassion and kindness. While some people believe that it is important to show compassion and kindness in all situations and contexts, others believe we should be more cautious and can worry about showing it too much to ourselves and to others. We are interested in your thoughts and beliefs in regard to kindness and compassion in three areas of your life:

1. Expressing compassion for others
2. Responding to compassion from others
3. Expressing kindness and compassion towards yourself

Below are a series of statements that we would like you to think carefully about and then circle the number that best describes how each statement fits you.

DESCRIPTION

Compassion Evaluation Scales

We developed three scales for this study, measuring Fear of compassion for self (compassion we have for ourselves when we make mistakes or things go wrong in our lives), Fear of compassion from others (the compassion that we experience from others and flowing into the self) and Fear of compassion for others (the compassion we feel for others, related to our sensitivity to other people's thoughts and feelings). We generated a series of items based on various fears of compassion for each of these scales. Many of these items were inspired by PGs discussions with patients, ideas generated in the psychotherapy literature (e.g. Arieti & Bemporad, 1980) and in the attachment literature (Bowlby, 1969, 1973, 1980).

We generated twenty items for each domain and then asked the research team to rank the items according to face validity and selected the items which were rated to be the most valid. Those items for which there was general agreement that they had low face validity or were difficult to understand were rejected. The final subscales consisted of: Compassion for Self comprised 13 items (e.g. "I worry that if I start to develop compassion for myself I will become dependent on it"); compassion from others comprised 15 items (e.g. "I try to keep my distance from others even if I know they are kind"); compassion for Others comprised 13 items (e.g. "Being too compassionate makes people soft and easy to take advantage of"). The items were rated on a five-point Likert scale (0 = Don't agree at all, 4 = Completely agree). The Cronbach's alphas for this scale are 0.85 for fear of compassion for self; 0.87 for fear of compassion from others and 0.78 for fear of compassion for others.
